Protecting the Patent Review Process Secures Our Software-Driven Economy [18]

BSA TechPost [2] - Fri, 12/05/2025 - 19:11

The US Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) is proposing major changes to how companies challenge low-quality patents. For software providers, and for industries increasingly built on software, from manufacturing and logistics to healthcare, aerospace, and financial services, the stakes are significant. The new rules would make it harder to fix errors in the patent system, easier for abusive plaintiffs to extract settlements, and risk giving foreign competitors and patent trolls a strategic advantage. Read More >> [19]
